

Kalakshar 2019 - International Seminar & Workshop
“Design Innovation through Socio-Cultural, Diversity from Art & Technology”

Thursday 14th to Saturday 16th February 2019

Concept Note

Organizing Secretary – Dr. Manish Arora

Kalakshar 2019 will provide a platform, where language, art and technology in relevant to Writing ‘entailing of the use of words in a structural stance’, Calligraphy ‘the art of producing decorative Handwriting with tools (pen, pencil or brush etc.)’ and Typography ‘technology helps to revitalize the art of calligraphy in the form of fonts, typography etc.’. All in together can be discussed and worked by specialist, beginner and curious work on the same ground on the proposed areas of typography, to be conspired in the society.

Running framework of technology, that enhances the level of language, art and typography and society is accepting all the changes along with ‘pro-technology includes language modifications – language and script digitalization, calligraphy and art changing their appearance with the help of new tools, mediums and materials, where as typography will is getting new heights – in terms of web & mobile application execution, user interface and online study etc. are available more often. The era of modern typography in the combination with pro-technology it become the need of integrated language, art and technology with step by step involvement of communication mediums; involvement as follows speaking arts (symbolic representation) and writing (the documentation of communication outcomes). In the same ways when we add art with handwriting, this gives birth to calligraphy. Calligraphy in sum with technology emote typography; when we add scripting and documenting with communication we get language.

Generally we see language, communication, documentation, art, calligraphy, culture, typography, writing, tools and technology etc. they are having individual significance and work differently; some how they have interlinked with each other.

Conference theme and subjects are key factor to all disciplines of educations and professional aids. This conference will be mostly practical and also experience based in which people working on those subjects be it specialist, academic, non-academic, technician, everyone together work to give new extraordinary solutions, new technology and new research to the challenges prevailing.

In this conference, on the first day there will be concept based discussion in which eminent Intellectuals, Writer, designer, typographer, calligrapher, social reformers, web designer, mobile app designer all around the world will present solution to present day challenges through lecture and demonstration of two days, two diverse mentors will organize practical workshop on these topic in which participants will learn the subjects practically. During this workshop we will also organize demonstration, installation and exhibition at some related public space.

After the conference we will be more able to decide whether through any multidisciplinary approach we can develop such an educational environment where language, art, typography, calligraphy, culture together can contribute in all sound development and if printing, designing, Execution etc. all work together then it can be possible that it will provide a balanced design art. Today world depends on technology development in which maximum work is done through virtual user interface in which can we can be able to make Fonts to printing, web fonts, languages etc. become user friendly. Present day world is quite different from the circumstances from two decades and how inhabitant may present calligraphy, typography language etc.
